

Psychology Transition Work Research Task

‘From Wundt to Cognitive Neuroscience – Psychology has come a long way since 1879.’

Your task is to research the origins and history of Psychology, examining the different perspectives that have been developed, and how Psychology has attempted to explain the complex nature of human behaviour. Can Psychology ever be truly classified as a Science?

I look forward to debating this point and reading your research in September!

Miss Webb